

Isn't It Amazing? (:60)

Isn't it amazing the sacrifice, the dedication, the grit? They really set an example, don't they? No question, today's high school athletes are truly special. Not the athletes, the officials. Today's student-athletes are truly special, but there is something pretty great about the men and women who officiate their games too. Like the way they are giving back to their communities.

Officiating is a great way to stay in shape, meet new people, and stay connected to the game you love. But the biggest reason of all, we need more qualified high school officials here in South Dakota and without them, the rest of us would have a whole lot less to cheer about. High school games need officials, high school sports need you. Interested in becoming a licensed high school official? Go to highschoolofficials.com to learn more and begin the application process.